Dear Ken:

Do you know Dr. Fuld's present address? He has not responded to any of my correspondence. I would like a fairly definite idea from everyone as to the new membership rules, so that we can submit the ideas to membership for a vote. I also have not heard from Lynn Glaser and a few others. It was an interesting note that appeared in the recent issue of the Coin World on page 2 concerning Grover.

I have had dozens and dozens of people ask me when you are going to put out the book shelf folders for individual series of English coins. Can you help me on this? There seems to be a terrific demand for a quality album to have sets from 1838 up, especially the copper coins.

With best personal regards, I remain

Spring 1963
Sincerely yours,

Belmont

Dear Dave:

No, I do not know Fuld's present address. I assume he is still in Baltimore, but he has not answered any of my correspondence since about last December. Perhaps something is wrong with him again and maybe someone should contact his father.

Lynn Glaser writes very infrequently. I think that he is tiring of numismatics and may drop out of the field before the year is finished. He is a bright fellow with a potentially good future, but I fear he has too many other outside interests.

The article in Coin World about Grover certainly was an eye-opener. I hope that everything can be cleared up soon.

We have not yet noticed a great deal of interest in the Bookshelf albums for English coins by dates. We would like to see this come about but, as it stands now, even the 35¢ albums are far from being on our best seller list. As the demand for these albums increases, we will certainly keep a watchful eye, as we want to be the first on the scene when the time is right. Thanks anyway for passing on the information. I hope you will keep me informed in the future as interest in this series continues to grow.

Kindest personal regards.

'sever,
